

My name is Aleksandar Vujicic born on January 15th, 1972 in Belgrade, Serbia now based in Sion, Switzerland. I'm a blues guitarist, singer and songwriter for more than 30 years on Belgrade blues scene. I was a singer and guitarist in "Di Luna Blues Band" for more than 20 years and now I'm a leader of my own band "Don Giovanni Blues Group". Have 2 albums recorded in the past (Belgrade Blues today (C) 1993 and "Don Giovanni Blues Group" Live in (C) 2012). Have several live TV shows appearance on national tv channels. Played many well known Jazz-Blues festivals in region and share a stage with legendary blues musician such as Mick Taylor (ex-Rolling Stones), Terry Evans, Ana Popovic. Live CD album that I recorded in 2012 with my group has 10 tracks with mainly blues and soul traditional covers, like: B.B. King "Woke up this morning", "Rock me baby" and "Never make your move too soon", Sam and Dave "Hold on, I'm coming", Willie Dixon "You Can't Judge a book by looking at the cover" and closing song Eddie Floyd "Knock on wood".

I'm also performing solo acoustic (acoustic guitar and vocal) and repertoire is based on blues, soul and rock and roll cover songs and as well my own written tunes.

I'm member of Serbian music jazz and rock association.

In the past 10 years I'm traveling between US and Europe for family reason, have a 10 years old daughter living in the states.
